BHEADworks (Artist Jung, Yeongyun) has been received much love and appreciation by presenting sensual figures of the outlook on the world of dystopia since the year of 2008.

It is such a pleasure to officially present the 'Boy' in BLITZWAY, which was the first character of BHEADworks' original design figures, 'Hunters: Day after WWIII'.

The Boy is the leader of Hunters, who is the master of performing underground and sniping, and dreaming about the utopia.

We organized much detailed compositions after going through many tests and works, in order to express the characteristics and features of the characters in our story planning.

Enjoy the detailed symbols and meanings for learning what each figure truly represents, along with attractive storylines.

Intense and sensual design head, with very realistic and stylish costumes, and artistic senses of classy proportions and colors.

A body for freely posing and realistically designed accessories, along with luxurious and weighty polystone diorama base.

These attractive and delicate collection will once again capture your eyes.
